PodFest Berlin 2024 will be taking place September 7th–15th at House of Color in Kreuzberg and tickets are available now!

For its fourth edition, the annual multilingual celebration of Berlin’s podcasts and podcasters will be hosted in a smaller, more relaxed venue and over a longer period than previous festivals. Attendees won’t have to choose between conflicting events and more people should now be able to make at least one event to experience Berlin’s incredible podcast community for what might be their first time!

“PodFest Berlin is one of the founding communities of House of Color,” says festival founder Dan Stern, “a cultural space we’ve built together over the past year. We’re thrilled for it to be the festival’s new home.”

Events already confirmed for this year’s festival include live tapings of Gay Over and Aktivkohle, as well as the return of Pitch Your Podcast!, where budding and experienced podcasters pitch their podcast to a house panel for feedback. Stern encourages all podcasters to be part of the festival “regardless of language, experience, or listener numbers. Diversity and inclusion are foundational commitments at PodFest Berlin.”

Festival passes and individual tickets can be purchased at PODFESTBERLIN.COM now!
